

RICHARD BANAS DYMSZA died May 7, 1990 at Atlanta, Georgia. He was born in Boston, Massachusetts on June 14, 1938, the son of Edmund Z. and Felicia A. (Banas) Dymsha. Richard prepared at Noble and Greenough in Dedham, Massachusetts. After graduating from Harvard (where he was a member of Dunster House) with an A.B. in English, Richard attended Cornell University where he earned an M.A. He was President of SouthWord Inc. at the time of his death. Richard's survivors include three daughters, Jessica, Lisa and Andrea, a brother, Robert, and a sister, Barbara.